

Photo#1 Rocky Manning checks out the site with owners Dick and Virginia Allen.

Photo #2 The site is cleaned up to get a good look before excavation is started.

Photo #3 Ron Tykoski plans the attack while others clean up the site.

Photo #4 Jack Robertson and Rocky begin excavation.

Photo #5 Bill Johnson and Karen Meinstein remove bank overburden.

Photo #6 The crew explores for more bone around the exposed bone.

Photo #7 Carla and Chris Griffin bring electric power.

Photo #8 Ron tries out the jackhammer.

Photo#9 Carla Griffin and Alex Shahan clean out debris from the jackhammer.

Photo #10 Chris Griffin explores for bone while Ron continues to jackhammer.

Photo #11 With the creek side trench well under way, the crew explores for bone on the bank side.

Photo #12 Karen Meinstein works with hammer and chisel.

Photo #13 Kathy Martinez works the Austin Chalk matrix looking for signs of bone.

Photo #14 Michele Kashouh works the bank side of the mosasaur looking for more of the creature.

Photo #15 Richard and Lisa Ward work by hand as Tony Fiorillo tries out the jackhammer.

Photo #16 Kathy Hoover looks for bone.

Photo#17 Lance Hall tries out new technique by drilling holes to help define a precise edge.

Photo #18 Close up of drilling.

Photo #19 Well defined edge after use of drill and jackhammer.

Photo #20 Bill Johnson extends the trench while the rest of the crew explores for bone.

Photo #21 RJ Taylor and Bob Atkinson work to open the trench on the bank side.

Photo #22 Close up of bank side of dig.

Photo #23 The trench is extended around the vertebrae.